

Environment and Health & Safety: helping you to navigate your way through the jungle of legal requirements, wherever in the world you operate

Having to identify, understand and assure compliance with a plethora of legal requirements is a fact of doing business in today's global marketplace. We at Barbour understand that finding your way through this jungle of ever-changing directives can be a daunting and arduous task.

That's why we have extended the reach of our EHS compliance services into over 100 countries worldwide by partnering with Enhesa.

Enhesa is an environmental and health and safety consultancy, providing EHS regulatory compliance assurance support across the globe.

Combined with our comprehensive and authoritative online information source, Enhesa's wealth of advice and support tools means that we can now offer you a truly tailored end to end service on a global level.

We can help you to not only stay on top of your regulatory and legal obligations by identifying and supplying reference information and technical guidance relevant to the countries where you operate, but also provide tools and consultancy to analyse how initiatives and legislation will impact your business and it's specific EHS challenges, and guide you on appropriate actions.

Enhesa is a global environmental, health and safety consultancy, with over 18 years' experience providing EHS regulatory compliance assurance support to industry worldwide.

Enhesa's staff and global network of consultants provide strategic information and guidance on current and emerging laws, regulations, standards and industry initiatives at international, national and local levels.

Our projects have covered over 75 countries around the globe, for organisations including Alstom, Applied Materials, Avery Dennison, Baxter Healthcare, GDF Suez, General Electric, IBM, L'Oreal, P&G and many more. Enhesa's strength lies in extensive and flexible research and consulting resources around the world.

www.enhesa.com

Our new services offered through Enhesa include:

Enhesa Audit Protocols

- Available in 130 jurisdictions worldwide in English and local language.
- Including Excel Scorecard to easily and objectively assess each finding for risk, root cause and corrective action, enabling comparison of facilities, identification of trends, and quick presentation of results.
- Easily integrated into any auditing system and management system software.

Regulatory Monitoring Service

- Monthly monitoring updates, covering over 130 countries and jurisdictions, giving you advance warning of upcoming policies and regulations that will impact your business.
- Option to include regular conference calls with our expert consultants regarding the most important developments for your business.
- Compliance calendar showing all implementation and compliance dates.

Country profiles

- Guidance on how policies are made, implemented and enforced.
- Help identifying the applicable laws and regulations in force and the relevant permitting and enforcement authorities.
- Profiles tailored to industrial facilities, administrative offices or products.

To find out more about how Barbour Environment, Health and Safety can help you with your Global regulatory compliance needs,

Visit: www.barbour-ehs.com/enhesa-10

Phone: +44 (0) 845 300 0241

Email: barbour-marketing@dubm.com

Regulatory Registers

- Provides an overview and access to global EHS regulations.
- Outlines key requirements.
- Designed to be compatible with International Management System Standards such as ISO 14001 and OHSAS 18001.

